GUEST SPEAKERS

Mr Gilles Walch, is a world-renowned shoulder surgeon practicing at the Centre Orthopedique Santy in Lyon, France.

Jo Gibson is a Clinical Physiotherapy Specialist who has specialised in rehabilitation of the Shoulder since 1995 and works at the Liverpool Upper Limb Unit.

WELCOME FROM THE COMMITTEE

Dear Colleagues,

2019 was a busy and successful year starting with the annual scientific meeting in January. Dr Evan Flatow proved to be an extremely engaging and insightful speaker and gave us the benefit of his experience in both shoulder surgery and transitioning from medical to management of a major healthcare network.

Professor Lori Michener travelled from the University of Southern California to be the ISERS's guest speaker. Prof Michener is a world-renowned physiotherapist and academic. Director of COOR (Clinical biomechanics, Orthopaedics and sports medicine Out-comes Research) Laboratory, her research focuses on the study of mechanisms and the diagnosis and treatment of orthopaedic and sports injuries of the shoulder and she was an excellent speaker.

Many ISES members attended the SECEC meeting in Geneva to support our bid to host SECEC 2021. The bid was presented by Ruth Delaney on behalf of the committee and we were delighted that we were successful - plenty of work for the next couple of years but an opportunity to put Irish shoulder and elbow surgery on the map.

We also welcomed both visiting SECEC and ASES fellows for the first time.

We welcome Ms Jo Gibson from Liverpool and Mr Gilles Walch from Lyon as guest speakers for our 2020 annual meeting and look forward to an enjoyable and educational day.

Finally, our colleague, Mr Patrick Groarke has been working away developing an updated website, which I invite you all to view at www.isesociety.com.

Guest Speakers

We are delighted to welcome Mr Gilles Walch as our speaker and guest of honour at the 2020SES conference.

Mr Gilles Walch

Native of Lyon, France and a product of the Lyonnaise Orthopedic school, Doctor Gilles Walch is truly a legend in the world of shoulder surgery. At the end of his orthopaedic training, he took the advice of his mentor, Pierre Chambat, and went to the USA, intending at that time to specialise in knee surgery (at this point he had numerous publications on patello-femoral instability and natural history of cruciate ligament rupture). He visited Dr Frank Jobe and Dr Charlie Rockwood in the US and those experiences drew him to shoulder specialisation, which at that time was virtually unheard of in Europe.

Since his return to France, Dr Walch has focused completely on the shoulder, improving the understanding and treatment of various shoulder disorders. Over time, he set up multidisciplinary teams with Rheumatologists, Radiologists, Physiotherapists, Rehab Doctors and other orthopaedic surgeons, in particular within the Duplay group. In 1993 he organised the first, 'Journées de l'épaule' in Lyon. Over 1,000 European specialists including orthopaedic surgeons, rheumatologists, radiologists and rehabilitation specialists consolidated 10 years of collaboration with the purpose of identifying and quantifying the different shoulder pathologies. The results of the collaboration have allowed careful analysis of poor results, complications and failures to improve treatment.

From 1987 to 1995 Dr Walch was the General Secretary of the European Society for Surgery of the Shoulder and Elbow (ESSSE/SECEC), before holding the office of President from 2005 to 2007. He has been a member of the ASES since 1994 and was elected President of the French Society of Orthopedic Surgery and Traumatology (SOFOT) 2014-2015. He was distinguished as an Honorary Member of several European Orthopedic Societies including Switzerland, Portugal, Italy and Greece. He is also a member of eight scientific societies and has been invited as Visiting Professor in many University Hospitals all around the world.

He has published more than 300 articles in national and international journals and has lectured at some 500 conferences across the world. He has written numerous book chapters and edited four books on Shoulder Arthroplasty. Dr. Walch has been a pioneer in the understanding of shoulder conditions and has developed several concepts including internal impingement, arthroscopic tenotomy of the biceps in massive RCT, hidden lesion of the subscapularis, the Latarjet procedure, the classification of arthritic glenoid, the role of the teres minor in massive rotator cuff tears and the musculotendinous rupture of the infraspinatus.

Ms Jo Gibson

Clinical Physiotherapy Specialist

Jo Gibson is a Clinical Physiotherapy Specialist who has specialised in rehabilitation of the Shoulder since 1995 and works at the Liverpool Upper Limb Unit and as a Consultant in private practice. She lectures Nationally and Internationally about assessment and rehabilitation of the shoulder complex and is a Consultant to several elite sports teams regarding shoulder rehabilitation. Jo is an Associate Lecturer at Liverpool University, has published in Peer-reviewed journals, written several book chapters and co-authored National guidelines for the management of specific shoulder pathologies.

ASES and SECEC Visiting Fellows

SECEC Visiting Fellow's Report

It was very interesting and to meet both Ruth Delaney and Hannan Mullet. Also, it was a great opportunity for me to be introduced to the Irish Shoulder Orthopaedic community. I had the chance to attend the meeting where the shoulder surgeons in Dublin share their most difficult cases and they also invite patients to come for open preoperative evaluation. This was very useful. Afterwards, we had a nice dinner at the French Restaurant followed by (of course) a pint of Guinness. I was very impressed by the unique group of patients. Since rugby and Gaelic football are so popular in Ireland, shoulder dislocation is very common. We had very interesting conversations about their surgical indications and postoperative protocols in such high-demanding and often very young patients.

Albert Ferrando and SECEC visiting fellow Enrico Bellato in Temple Bar

I was also impressed by the high level of the facilities where they work: they have an amazing team working with them so that they can be very efficient in the OR, where I saw several interesting cases. I also visited the Sport Center connected to the Sports Surgery Clinic: a physiotherapist introduced me to their rehabilitation programs and showed me their ongoing studies. And a lucky morning as a tourist with no rain (!!!) was the cherry on top.

Enrico Bellato MD (centre), SECEC visiting fellow, receiving a tour of the physiotherapy department at the Sports Surgery Clinic.

American Shoulder & Elbow Society Visiting Fellows

Every two years the American Shoulder and Elbow Society (ASES) sends two fellows to a number of European centres and we were honoured that this year's ASES visiting fellows chose Dublin as one of their centres. This was the first time Ireland has hosted the visitors. We welcomed Dr Michael Freehill, MD, University of Michigan and Dr Uma Srikumaran, MD, Johns Hopkins University to Dublin from 4th to 8th September. They visited the Sports Surgery Clinic (SSC) and spent time with Ruth Delaney and Hannan Mullett in theatre.

They also visited the SSC Sports Medicine Department and were interested to hear about the biomechanical research that is being undertaken there. They delivered a series of lectures to an audience comprising local shoulder surgeons, trainees and physiotherapists. Mike and Uma also visited Cappagh hospital and observed surgery with Kieran O'Shea and Olivia Flannery. They enjoyed an active social schedule with dinner on the Friday night in the Winding Stair restaurant hosted by ISES committee. They also came to see Ireland beat Wales in the final World Cup warm-up match at the Aviva Stadium. Mike is a keen U2 fan and got to see Bono's childhood home en route to Cappagh which was an added bonus for him.

Irish Shoulder and Elbow Rehabilitation Society

The Irish Shoulder and Elbow Rehabilitation Society, ISERS was established in 2017 to support our 46 members in leading and collaborating on the delivery of the highest standards of shoulder and elbow rehabilitation in Ireland. This is being done through high quality short courses, journal clubs, case discussions and the development of online resources.

The ISERS committee is made up of five physiotherapists who have a special interest in the management of upper limb disorders. These members are Michelle Clarke (Clinical Specialist Physiotherapist at Beaumont Hospital Dublin), Clare Gilsenan (Clinical Specialist Physiotherapist at Beaumont Hospital Dublin), Edel Fanning (Lead Upper Limb Physiotherapist at Sports Surgery Clinic Santry), Karen Mc Creesh (Senior Lecturer and Course Director of Physiotherapy at University of Limerick), Eoin O' Conaire (clinical Specialist Physiotherapist at Evidence Based Therapy Centre, Galway) and Kevin Sheerin (Chartered Physiotherapist at Physio Care, Dublin).

It has been a busy and successful year for ISERS. Many of our members travelled to Geneva to the EUSSER meeting, where Michelle Clarke and Eva Barrett presented their research.

In April, ISERS was honoured to host Leanne Bissett for an excellent 'Advanced Elbow Course' in the University of Limerick. Leanne is Associate Professor in Musculoskeletal Physiotherapy within the School of Allied Health Sciences at Griffith University in Brisbane, Australia. She has successfully completed multiple clinical trials investigating physiotherapy and medical interventions for chronic upper limb musculoskeletal pain conditions. With more than 1 million AUD in competitive grant funding, Leanne is recognised as a leading expert in the field of soft tissue elbow injuries.

The society ultimately aims to encourage and support research collaboration between members, and foster relationships with our international colleagues in the field of elbow and shoulder rehabilitation. This year we have partnered with The European Society for Shoulder and Elbow Rehabilitation, EUSSER, and look forward to collaborating and contributing to the work of our European colleagues. Further to this, at last year's meeting, ISERS awarded a travel bursary to one of our Members, Paula Tansey, to attend the annual EUSSER symposium in the Netherlands. Paula will be discussing her trip at this year's meeting and we look forward to hearing how her experience was.

One of the key goals for the ISERS group is to strengthen our networks with the shoulder and elbow surgeons nationally. Therefore increasing awareness of physiotherapists with a special interest in shoulder and elbow rehabilitation amongst our surgical colleagues was considered important. To this end we have created a brochure with the contact details of any of our members who would like to be included, which has been circulated to the members of the ISES surgeons' group.

A lot of work was carried out since our last meeting by the ISERS committee to establish ISERS as a company, limited by guarantee. A constitution was drawn up as dictated by the terms of the Companies Registration Office (CRO) and ISERS was officially registered with the CRO and received it's Certificate of Incorporation on the 14th of May 2019.

We look forward to the coming year, starting with this year's conference. We very much look forward to welcoming the esteemed Jo Gibson and Mr Gilles Walch who are our key note speakers for the day. We also look forward to a number of exciting CPD opportunities coming up in 2020. Our case discussions and journal clubs in Cappagh National Orthopaedic Hospital will be happening on the following dates: Tuesday, February 4th, April 7th, June 2nd, Aug 4th, Oct 6th, Dec 1st.

We will also be welcoming Dr Ian Horsley (Lead Physiotherapist in the North West for the English Institute of Sport and clinical director of Back In Action Rehabilitation) in the Spring. Details on this course will follow and will be advertised via our website and twitter.
